TRINITY SCHOOLS
ST MATTHEW'S

Term One, Week 10

Principal's Message

Kia Ora Koutou

I will start with a shout-out to our school who give importance to the value of watching and reading the news. The reality is that if we are not keeping up with what is happening in the world, we are missing out on a lot more than just gossip. Let's be honest—we are talking about issues that affect our future—whether it is climate change, politics, or the way social media appears to be shaping much of what we do. Watching current events is a way to stay woke (Woke is about being conscious of what's going on in the world, especially when it comes to systemic problems and oppression), and be aware of what is going on outside your bubble. Plus, when you know 'what's up', you can be part of the conversations and not just scroll past them. It is about being in the know, making smart choices, and honestly, feeling connected to something bigger than just your feed. If I am to talk in a type of teenager street vernacular- 'Whether you're looking to get involved in something or just keep it real with your friends, staying informed is straight-up necessary.'

So why am I extolling the virtues of staying on top of current events? Recently there has been increased media on the refreshed English Curriculum. The headline for RNZ news was 'To be, or not to be? Draft English curriculum proposes compulsory Shakespeare for seniors'. As people who stay current you will be aware we are all in Curriculum refresh mode. The refreshed curriculums are structured around the ideas that students should 'Understand, Know, Do'. A curriculum built around "understand, know, do" emphasizes a deeper, more holistic approach to learning. "Understand" focuses on critical thinking and comprehension and connecting knowledge to real-world situations and applying it in meaningful ways. "Know" ensures that students have a solid foundation of factual knowledge, which is essential for building on further learning. It is the raw material that supports deeper thinking and action. "Do" encourages application—taking what you have understood and know and using it in practical contexts. This fosters problem-solving, creativity, and the development of practical skills that students can take into their future careers and lives. You need the three for holistic learning- if you take out the 'understand' and it's just about knowing and doing, students may be well-prepared for basic tasks, but they might struggle with deeper learning and application in real-world scenarios.

But what also needs to be busted wide open is that 'old' text is as important as 'modern' text. It is not dissimilar to preserving old buildings while building new ones or valuing our senior citizens while celebrating our young: both are about finding a balance between honouring the past and embracing the future.

Old buildings hold the history, culture, and stories of the generations before us. They give us a sense of identity, connection, and continuity. Just as our senior citizens have lived through decades of experience and hold wisdom that we can learn from.

The buildings remind us of where we come from, teaching us lessons from the past. Preserving them is like respecting our elders—recognising the importance of their contributions and the legacy they have left behind.

On the other hand, building new structures is about growth, progress, and meeting the needs of the future, much like celebrating and nurturing the potential of our younger generation. New buildings bring innovation, creativity, and new opportunities for communities, just as young people bring fresh perspectives, ideas, and energy. It is not just about honouring what was, but about actively shaping what is to come.

The balance of the past and future creates a dynamic and sustainable environment. By valuing both, we ensure that we do not forget where we came from while still pushing forward toward where we are going.

So, when I consider how something like suggested text Ozymandias as per the article mentioned, contributes to that, Understand Know Do, (knowing that I studied that this text many moons ago) then hear me out on this poem that might sound like some dusty old relic, but it is actually super relevant right now.

OZYMANDIAS

Percy Bysshe Shelley

I met a traveller from an antique land,
Who said— “Two vast and trunkless legs of stone
Stand in the desert. . . . Near them, on the sand,
Half sunk a shattered visage lies, whose frown,
And wrinkled lip, and sneer of cold command,
Tell that its sculptor well those passions read
Which yet survive, stamped on these lifeless things,
The hand that mocked them, and the heart that fed,
And on the pedestal, these words appear:
My name is Ozymandias, King of Kings,
Look on my Works, ye Mighty, and despair!
Nothing beside remains. Round the decay
Of that colossal Wreck, boundless and bare
The lone and level sands stretch far away.”

Ozymandias Pharaoh Rameses II (reigned 1279-1213 BCE). According to the OED, the statue was once 57 feet tall.

The whole vibe of the poem is about how even the biggest empires, the most powerful leaders, eventually crumble. It is a reminder that no matter how much someone flexes or builds their “legacy,” time does not care—everything fades. In a world obsessed with social media fame, influencers, and hustle culture, Ozymandias hits differently. It is like saying, “Yo, remember that all the hype you’re chasing? It’s temporary. What really lasts is what you leave behind in how you treat people and what you stand for.” So yes, maybe the poem is old, but it is honestly speaking to the now.

Volunteers

This a request to you as parents, our St Matthew’s whānau, to put your hand up to assist with sport. If you can manage or coach please make contact. We are so fortunate that we have parents who are already stepping into these spaces.

Have an enjoyable and safe weekend

Boarding Note

And they are off! Last night we had a brief Boarders Chapel service followed by a frantic easter egg hunt around the grounds. Thank you to Rev. Wendy and Charlotte Kirk our Special Character prefect for their organisation behind the scenes.

As we approach the last week of term, please be aware of the following-

1. Our Special “End of Term Boarding Dinner” will be held on Wednesday next week instead of Thursday due to the Senior College Dessert Dance. We look forward to celebrating what has been a very busy Term 1 together as a boarding community.
2. Next week boarders must set up an “End of Term” pass on Orah. Remember the return date for the pass will be Sunday 27th April when all boarders are due back by 5pm at the latest.
3. A reminder all boarders must take their belongings home for the break. This ensures all items are washed properly and allows rooms to be appropriately cleaned.
4. We are currently seeing some boarders returning in incorrect uniform. Please make sure your daughter leaves and returns to boarding in full school uniform.

Thank you to parents and caregivers for your support of our boarding rules and routines.

Wishing everyone a relaxing weekend.

Yr 9 trip to Pukaha

Yr 9 had a great day learning about the importance of native trees in our New Zealand ecosystem. They spent time putting to use skills learned on class to identify different tree species using different structural features such as leaf shape and bark structure. The weather was perfect and our guide Rhys was knowledgeable. A great learning experience for all. Next step is for the girls to use information and photos collected in an assessment task back in class.

Senior Fashion Trip to the Vivienne Westwood Jewellery exhibition

Last month the senior fashion students travelled to Wellington to enjoy a curated tour of the Vivienne Westwood Jewellery exhibition followed by a panel discussion in the Soundings Theatre. The topic: Beyond the Runway: Fashion Activism and the Environment. The students came away with heads full of thoughts and ideas and possible career directions.

‘Karaitianatanga ora’ meaning Christianity Alive

Mark of Mission – Transform – to transform unjust structures of society; to challenge violence of every kind and pursue peace and reconciliation.

As I decorated the chapel this morning in red to signify Holy Week, my mind understandably turned to Easter. Easter is a celebration of the birth of Christianity, through the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, who claimed to be the Son of God. In Matthew 12:19-21 we read:

He will not fight or shout or raise his voice in public.

E kore ia e totohe, e kore ia e hamama; e kore ano e rangona tona reo i nga ara;

He will not crush the weakest reed or put out a flickering candle. Finally, he will cause justice to be victorious.

E kore e whatiia porokeretia e ia te kakaho i mangungu, e kore e tineia te muka e whakapaoa ana; kia puta ra ano i a ia te whakawa ki te wikitoria.

And his name will be the hope of all the world.

Ka tumanako hoki nga tauwi ki tona ingoa.

This is a quote from the book of Isaiah from the Old Testament that prophesies Jesus' coming. this section simultaneously contrasts the hatred of the Pharisees toward Jesus with His tranquility and gentleness and prepares the way for what God, through Jesus, was ultimately trying to achieve for the world. Justice, bringing hope to all the world. Including yours and mine.

New Zealand Traveller Declaration

Going overseas for the school holidays?
Everyone travelling into New Zealand must complete a New Zealand Traveller Declaration, including returning New Zealand passport holders.

Its FREE and you can do it on the online form or on the NZTD app.

If you're travelling as a family or group and completing multiple declarations, the NZTD app allows you to copy your travel details into another declaration, making it easier to complete multiple declarations for the same journey. The submitted declarations are then all easy to see within the app.

The New Zealand Traveller Declaration collects travel, customs, immigration and biosecurity information and aims to improve the safety and security of New Zealand. It replaces the paper card you used to fill out on the plane.

To make your arrival easier, do your digital declaration before your flight back to New Zealand.
